

Dan Foster's print of frosty trees taken near Venedocia

Dan Foster's print of frosty trees taken near Venedocia was voted the best print of the year at last week's meeting.

Selecting the best slide was a little more difficult however, due to a tie vote between Dick Rohr's fall scene in Letchworth State Park near Mount Morris, N.Y., and Rex Dolby's shot of the 1858 Bass Harbor Head lighthouse in Acadia National Park.

By a margin of one vote, Dolby's lighthouse prevailed on the second ballot.

The voting for next year's officers resulted in Jim Bowers being elected president; Jan Dunlop, vice president; Rex Dolby, secretary; and Jerry Mason, treasurer.

Members enjoyed a fine Christmas dinner followed by Dolby's slide show on his trip to Alaska, which featured Anchorage, the train ride to Fairbanks, flight to Anchorage, bus ride to Seward, and a seven-day cruise on the Inside Passage that included stops at College Fjord, Glacier Bay, Skagway, Juneau, Ketchikan and Vancouver.

Members should note there is a trip planned to leave from the art center at 9 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 16, to see the exhibit of Ansel Adams prints at the Fort Wayne (Indiana) Museum of Art. Admission is $4. Details on the exhibit will be given later.

President Bowers announced plans to shoot Christmas lights tomorrow evening if the weather permits.

Members will want to bring their photo equipment and wear warm clothing. This will be the last meeting for 1998.

Jan. 7 will be the next time the club meets.
