

Lincolnview pride

The Lincolnview Pride Election Committee hosted a Senior Citizen's Luncheon recently in the Lincolnview High School cafeteria. The purpose of the event was to inform local residents of the upcoming May 6th primary bond issue for building facilities. A 7.11 mill bond issue for 28 years will finance the construction of classrooms, a multi-purpose area/cafeteria and a 500-seat gymnasium for kindergarten through sixth-grade students at the high school location. The committee reminds all registered voters in the Lincolnview School District to vote on May 6. Looking over the proposed structure are (from left) Linda Giessler, Jill Graves, co-chairmen of the Lincolnview Pride Election Committee; Nora and Paul Scott and Dwight and Margie Rhoades.

Lincolnview Elementary students held a mock election at their school April 29. They discussed the pluses and minuses of voting for a bond issue to build a new elementary school at Lincolnview. The day after the lesson the students voted on the issue. The final tally was 309 "yes" votes to 39 "no" votes. Lincolnview would like to thank the election board and Hoaglin Township trustees for their assistance in making this election as realistic as possible. Above, Kristyn Jones from Alice Berryman's class won the slogan contest.
